AS YOU LIKE IT.

Volume VIII. of the Variorum Edition of Shakespeare. Edited by HORACE HOWARD FURNESS, Ph.D., LL.D., L.H.D. Royal 8vo, extra cloth, gilt top, $4.00.

The publication of a new volume of the Variorum Edition of Shakespeare, which is now recognized among scholars as a veritable mine of information, will be a welcome event to those who have studied the former plays. Each volume is a Shakespearian library in itself, and contains the best criticisms that have ever been written. Those already issued are "Romeo and Juliet," "Hamlet" (two vols.), "Macbeth," "King Lear," "Othello," and "The Merchant of Venice."

"To enjoy Shakespeare thoroughly, there is but one edition that will suffice, and that is Dr. Furness' own. It is the result of a lifetime of study by the most eminent Shakespearian scholar in America."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"One of the most notable contributions to Shakespeare literature in the present century."—Manchester (Eng.) Guardian.

WORKS OF WILLIAM H. PRESCOTT.

THE REIGN OF CHARLES V. (2 vols.)

New Library Edition. Edited by J. FOSTER KIRK. Illustrated with portraits and maps. Complete in twelve volumes. Octavo, neatly bound in cloth, gilt top, $2.50 per volume.

Previously issued: "Conquest of Mexico," two volumes; "Conquest of Peru," two volumes; "Ferdinand and Isabella," two volumes; "The Reign of Philip II.," three volumes, ready in May; "Biographical and Critical Miscellanies," one volume, ready in June.

"It would be difficult to point out among any works of living historians the equal of those which have proceeded from Mr. Prescott's pen."—Harper's Magazine.

"Mr. Prescott has long been honorably known as the author of the most valuable historical works produced in the present age."—The Edinburgh Review.

Stanley's Emin Pasha Expedition.

By A. J. WAUTERS, Chief Editor of the Mouvement Géographique, Brussels. With maps, 33 portraits, and illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

"A better work than those which have preceded it; one, too, which is authoritative. We have here many of the most essential facts, including not only the successful termination of the search and the triumphal march back to the coast, but also an outline of the important geographical discoveries made by Stanley."—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE spring trade sale commences April 22.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. have just ready "As You Like It" in the Variorum Edition of Shakespeare and "The Reign of Charles V." in their New Library Edition of Prescott's works. They will publish on the 11th inst. Ouida's new novel, "Syrlin."

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish shortly "Stage Land: curious habits and customs of its inhabitants," by Jerome K. Jerome, author of "Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow" and "Three Men in a Boat." It has spirited illustrations by J. B. Partridge of the stage heroine, the stage villain, and thirteen other typical stage characters, of all of whom the author gives descriptions.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish early in ay "The Begum's Daughter," by Edwin Lassetter Bynner, which has been running the past year in the Atlantic Monthly. The story is descriptive of Knickerbocker life and has been pronounced by English and American journals, such as the London Spectator, the Nation, and others, a "very powerful story," which from its first pages showed a fresh and truly original strain.

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. have added to their twenty-five-cent series of popular fiction "The Millionaire's Wife," a new story by Prudence Lowell; "Clara Moreland," and "Viola," by Emerson Bennett; "Miriam, the Avenger," by Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth; "Worth the Wooing," and "Handsome Miss Lisle," by Lady Gladys Hamilton; and "The Exiles," a Russian story. This series now includes fifty-nine of their best-selling books.

FUNK & WAGNALLS have just ready "The Seven Churches of Asia, or, worldliness in the church," by Dr. Howard Crosby, who teaches many lessons to church members of his day founded on the letters to the seven churches contained in the Book of Revelation; and a volume of sermons by Rev. Robt. S. MacArthur, called "The Calvary Pulpit; Christ and Him Crucified," almost all of which were preached during the earlier ministry of the present rector of Calvary Baptist Church, New York City.

D. LOTHROP COMPANY have just issued "The Fairhaven Fourteen," by Mariana N. Tallman; "The World's Greatest Conflict," by Henry Boynton, who presents the parallels of France and America in their break for liberty a century ago; "What Saith the Scriptures," a handbook for Bible readers and for thoughtful members of the rapidly growing Societies for Christian Endeavor, compiled by Mary P. Lord; "The Story of Neesima," by Phebe McKeen; and the "Winter Sport Library," contributed to by various well-known authors.

THE WORTHINGTON Co. have added "The Feet of Love," by Anne Reeve Aldrich, with photogravure illustrations by Wm. Martin Johnson, to their International Library. The writer is the author of a book of poems published some time back under the title "The Rose of Flame." The scene of the story is a seaside summer resort on Long Island, and the chief character a young clergyman of a Protestant Episcopal church, which is almost the property of some rich residents of the pretty village. It is a tale of love and sacrifice told with many artistic descriptions, and filled with worldly wisdom and observation.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on the 12th inst. "The Mistress of Beech Knoll," a love-story, pure and simple, by Clara Louise Burnham; Bret Harte's latest story, "A Waif of the Plains;" the first two volumes of the Riverside Science Series—(1) "A Century of Electricity," by T. C. Mendenhall, a new edition of a book which has been received with great favor as a clear and comprehensive account of discoveries and achievements in electrical science up to the present time, to which have been added new chapters and a new preface; (2) "The Physical Properties of Gases," by A. L. Kimball, an accurate and readable account of all that has been discovered concerning the subject; "The Roman Singer," by Marion Crawford in the Riverside Paper Series; and Longfellow, Whittier, and Holmes Leaflets, compiled by Josephine E. Hodgdon, in the Riverside Literature Series.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

Barnard, Helen Pearson. The boys of North Parish. Bost., Congregational S. S. and Pub. Soc., [1890.] c. 320 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The diary of Carl Willard, the son of the minister in North Parish, furnishes much of the material for a story of the doings of the boys in a country town. They are alive set, each with a strong individuality. They get into scrapes, of course—as such boys always do—but they also learn from their experiences, and show how responsive boys are to wise efforts for their good.

The hammer: a story of the Maccabean times; il. by J. Jellicoe. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1890. 7+372 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

"The joint authors have given a vivid and interesting picture of Jewish life in the second century B.C. The opening chapters show to what an extent the Jews had fallen away from the old faith, and were endeavoring to disown their ancestry by assuming Greek dress, Greek manners, and even Greek names. Then follows a stirring account of the persecution of the faithful under Antiochus and of the rise of the Maccabees, with the aged Mattathias at their head. The remainder of the volume is devoted to the struggles of Judas, 'the Hammer,' and his intrepid band of followers against the Greeks, until his death in the famous battle of Eleasa, 'the Jewish Thermopylæ.'"—London Athenæum.

Crosby, Howard. The seven churches of Asia; or, worldliness in the church. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1890. c. 2-168 p. S. cl., 75 c.

After pointing out the excellences and defects of the seven churches separately, the author closes with a special application of the subject, showing that worldliness is the ever-present and all-destroying sin—permeating society, trade, and politics.

Dilke, Sir C: Wentworth. Problems of Greater Britain. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1890. 8+738 p. maps. O. cl., $4.

This is not a revision of the author's "Greater Britain," published over twenty years ago, but an entirely new book. It is a careful and exhaustive study of England and her many colonies and dependencies, regarding each as part of the political whole. Sir Charles believes there are many obstacles in the way of the plan of federation cherished by many Englishmen, the chief being the impossibility of a customs system which would be equally acceptable to all the colonies. He also shows how slight is the tie which binds the colonies to the mother country. If Canada desired annexation to the United States, the home government would not, in his opinion, oppose it with force. His greatest apprehension is for India, which does not love its conqueror. Much space is devoted to a Russian invasion of India. Other problems, also equally interesting, affecting the future of England, are discussed at length.

- In this volume many interesting subjects are discussed. Beginning with instinctive thought, its etherealization by means of language, the author treats of the social contract between God and man, the meaning of the formula "Kingdom of God" as promulgated in the days of the Patriarchs, applying its principles to the subject of a general social reformation. He touches upon such questions as the relation of church and state and church and school, the purification of politics, the labor question, and the various phases of the race problem.

- Powell, E. P. Liberty and life: discourses. Chic.,

- C: H. Kerr & Co., 1889. c. 3-208 p. D. cl., 75 c.
- In the preface Mr. Powell sets forth the general point of view from which his book is written. "Evolution has brought us to face such new views of life, and of our responsibility as the finality of the animal kingdom, and inheritors of an eternal evolution of organic and functional power, that we must recast our views of sin altogether. Henceforth, sin will be held to be not a personal affront to the Creator, but a course of action that degrades ourselves in either body or mind. . . . We are placed in charge of ourselves by the fact of self-consciousness."

- Pactolus Prime is the boot-black of one of the prominent hotels of Washington; he is a negro, and is reputed to have made a fortune in his business; he talks like a highly educated man. Senators, judges, lawyers, and doctors are his customers, and as they in succession fill his chair, he converses with them on the present condition of the negro race in America. Many opposite opinions are thus elicited. While all agree on one point, that the negro is not receiving fair play, no remedy is suggested for his benefit. There is a slight story in which Pactolus is a pathetic figure.
- Twenty novelettes, by twenty prominent novelists. N. Y., Frank F. Lovell & Co., [1890.] 283 p. D. (Lovell's international ser., no. 53.) pap., 30 c.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 5, 1890.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE DISCOUNT QUESTION IN ENGLAND.

THE nuisance of discounts is one of the "burning" questions in England quite as much as in this country. For a quarter of a century, at least, the English bookseller has fought it, as we have, in vain. In the meantime the evil has become chronic and eaten its way almost into the vitals of the book trade, impairing its usefulness and making it impossible for a bookseller, pure and simple, dealing in current literature, to make a living profit from his business. The publishing trade in the meantime there as here seem to have underrated the gravity of the situation, possibly because the immediate effect on the volume of their business was not as perceptible to them as to the distributing agents. There has been some decrease in business of course, and year by year it has become more difficult to make a market, yet somehow the machinery has been kept in motion and the shrinkage has been attributed to any and every cause but the right one, it seems to us. A few of the leading publishers here, recognizing the evil, made an attempt some time ago to induce their fellow-publishers to unite in an effort to regulate discounts, but received such half-hearted support that they became discouraged and abandoned the crusade.

Now Mr. Frederick Macmillan, of Macmillan & Co., London, tired of the existing state of affairs and thinking that "the time is ripe for some serious action on the part of all concerned towards a settlement of the 'underselling' question" is making an heroic effort to interest our English brethren in the matter. In a letter to the London Bookseller for March 6 he presents his views, which we commend to the careful study of our friends:

"Although this is no doubt a matter that primarily concerns retail booksellers, it is of serious importance to authors, publishers, and all concerned in the production of books, and also to bookbuyers and those interested in the welfare of letters. A well-stocked book-shop is a centre of mental culture, and any disorganization of trade that renders the existence of such centres difficult or impossible is an injury to the community.

"For many years it has been felt that something should be done to get rid of the irregularity of prices and discounts that is the cause of the evil referred to, but the difficulty of any organized action among booksellers is so great that, although much has been thought and said, nothing has been done. It has been suggested that the body which has it in its power to take the necessary steps is the publishers; and believing such to be the case, I am impelled to write this letter.

"There appear to be two courses open—either to fix the limit of discount which should be allowed from published prices, or to abolish discounts to the public altogether. A careful consideration of the question has led me to conclude that the latter of these two courses is the sound one. If the principle of giving discounts to purchasers be admitted, it is difficult to fix a limit to them, and it seems to me that the best and only satisfactory plan is a general reduction of retail prices, and the diminution of trade allowances to such a point that the full published price may reasonably be demanded and obtained from purchasers. I am of opinion that a trade price of 10*d.* in the 1*s.*, with the present discounts at settlement, but without odd books, would be at once sufficient and just, and at the same time not large enough to tempt the bookseller into giving discounts to his customers, and so beginning over again the process of demoralization. I am strongly of opinion that any attempt to legalise a discount of 25 per cent. from published prices would be ineffectual; and I do not think that publishers (though I can only speak certainly as to my own firm) would be willing to take steps in such a direction. I do not believe that there would be any difficulty in getting the public to pay full prices if it were clearly understood that the rates allowed to booksellers were not such as to enable them to give discount. Of course so long as it is known that discount is obtainable a purchaser will press for it, and when he has got it will have the feeling that if he had used a little more pressure he might have made a better bargain; but the ease with which, when in isolated cases books have been published at net prices, the bookseller has been able to sell them without discount, leads me to think that a general movement in that direction would be unattended with any real difficulty.

"Although a considerable number of houses might not be unwilling to fix the terms for their publications on a net basis, they cannot be expected to take such a step (which among other things would involve a good deal of trouble in the revision of the prices of existing books), unless they are assured that they would be acting with the general approval of the retail trade, and that their books would not be placed at a disad-vantage with those of other publishers who might or might not follow their example. The change, should it be adopted, would be made with the view of benefiting their customers and assisting in the settlement of a difficult problem, not with the expectation of any direct advantage to themselves as publishers.

"It therefore seems to me that the first step necessary is to obtain some expression of opinion on the part of the retail trade, as to the practicability and advisability of such a new departure; and it has occurred to me that you, sir, as the editor of the recognized organ of the book trade, might perhaps be willing to receive replies to a series of questions issued to the trade generally. If these questions were answered widely (and I cannot believe that any bookseller is without an opinion, one way or the other), they would form a real basis for discussion at a meeting of publishers which might be summoned to consider them.

"For my own part, I have no doubt that, with the hearty coöperation of the retail trade, the net system could easily be introduced, and that its adoption would put the whole business of book-selling on a healthy and prosperous basis."

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY four or five years ago succeeded in getting a fairly representative opinion from the retail trade in favor of reducing retail prices, close discounts to the trade and no discounts whatever to any one else, but so far as we know that opinion was allowed to repose in the pages of the WEEKLY. We therefore look forward with interest to this movement of Mr. Macmillan, which is significant as being the first which has been made openly and boldly by the representative of one of the largest houses on both sides of the Atlantic.

ANNALS OF SCOTCH PRINTING.

MACMILLAN & BOWES, Cambridge, England, have recently published a sumptuous work under the above title. The first part was written as a series of articles for The Printers' Register by Dr. Robert Dickson, who was compelled to abandon the work by ill-health. The task was completed by Mr. John Philip Edmond, who found himself called upon to deal with the majority of the printers whose work called for notice. Practically the scope of the plan includes all the printers who followed their calling in Scotland up to the close of the sixteenth century. It has been carried out with patience and thoroughness in the way of research, and with abundant bibliographical knowledge of early printing generally. Indeed, it is a work that will interest bibliographers and antiquarians more than printers.

It is a technical account of some three hundred and thirty articles—some of them books of high literary importance, most of them fragments and tracts of little more than antiquarian value. The bibliographical memoirs which divide the work into its system of chapters are necessarily meagre, as so little is known about the men who printed in Scotland anterior to the seventeenth century. It is a somewhat singular fact in bibliographical history that for nearly three hundred years no knowledge whatever was extant as to the name of the earliest Scotch printers. At the end of the last century George Chalmers, in collecting material for his "Life of Ruddiman," found in the records of the General Record House of Scotland a patent issued by King James IV., which proved that a printing-press was established by Walter Chepman and Andrew Myllar at Edinburgh in 1507. The partners were to have a monopoly of printing certain books specified. And as it was thought expedient that certain named liturgical books should be used generally throughout the realm as soon as they could be printed and supplied, the two printers were solely authorized and privileged to publish the same.

After Chepman and Myllar came Thomas Davidson, who in 1541 was chosen to print certain Acts of Parliament of James V.; John Scot, who printed from 1552 to 1571; Robert Lekpreuk, a contemporary of John Scot, who in 1564 received royal authority for printing the Acts of Queen Mary and in 1567-8 was constituted King's printer for the space of twenty years; Thomas Bassandyne, who obtained Scot's types and assisted Lekpreuk, and who printed the first folio Bible in Scotland; John Ross, who printed some comparatively unimportant books between 1574 and 1580; Henry Charteris, originally a bookseller, whose chief undertakings were editions of the works of early Scotch writers, and who was succeeded by his son Henry in 1599; Thomas Vantrollier, a Frenchman, who first established a press in London and removed it to Edinburgh in 1584, where he had the honor of printing the first of King James' works; Robert Waldegrave, another Frenchman, came after Vantrollier, and was succeeded by Robert Smyth, an English printer, in 1592; then came Robert Charteris, who succeeded his father, the younger Henry Charteris, and who was King's printer during the whole of his career. He died in 1610, with which date the work closes.

In regard to the biographical details, the authors give the narrative partly in their own words, and partly in those of ancient charters and documents of archaic phraseology. The bibliographical portion is highly creditable. No pains seem to have been spared to seek out information; original sources have been resorted to, and the collations are scientifically done. There are many illustrations, chiefly fac-similes of types. The book is a handsome and imposing volume of over five hundred pages, beautifully printed in old style type. The edition is limited.

CURIOSITIES OF FRENCH CRITICISM.

SOME curious facts concerning literary criticism have just been published at Paris by M. L. Lucas, the son of the eminent critic, M. Hippolyte Lucas, under the title of "Portraits et Souvenirs Littéraires." Among the souvenirs is the following note from A. Dumas, père: "My dear confrère, have the kindness to let me go down to posterity by saying, in the Siècle, that my 'Voyage au Sinai' is the chef-d'œuvre of chefs-d'œuvres. Thousand compliments." M. Berlioz writes even more to the point: "My dear friend, will you kindly, if you can, introduce in your next feuilleton a few words announcing my concert on the 19th at the Conservatoire? Duprez, Manol, and Mme. Gras will sing one of my trios, and Duprez will play a piece which I have written in Germany, and which has never before been heard in Paris. . . . You might say this apropos of my return from Germany, and add that it is a long time since I gave my last concert at Paris."

A CURIOUS LITERARY HAPPENING.

THE Giornale di Sicilia, a daily paper, published at Palermo in Sicily, in its issue of the 8th of February last, informed its readers as follows:

LEONE, THE ROMANCE OF A BRIGAND CHIEF.

To-morrow we will begin a new story, published the first time in Boston, U. S. A., and due to the fervid fancy and exquisite art of a distinguished American author.

From the title alone our readers will be able to appreciate the interest which this new appendix of ours is destined to awaken. It is superfluous to state how rich is this romance with most interesting scenes, with splendid descriptive pages, and with extraordinary poetic and dramatic situations; the nature of the story lending itself to the work of a bright and broad imagination as is that of our author.

We have intrusted its translation from the English to an amiable and highly cultured lady of our city, who, from time to time, favors our paper with her valuable contributions.

We add nothing more; trusting that our readers will be grateful to us for the choice we have made in the publication of this American novel.

And, in fact, the next day there appeared the first chapter, and the publication is still going on.

"The curious thing about this is," says the Boston Transcript, "that the original novel was published by the Ticknors, of Boston, several years ago in their Round Robin Series, without the name of the author—as all the novels in that series were published—and that the author of this 'Leone' was not an American, but an Italian, nay, a Sicilian native of Palermo. Luigi Monti, A.M. (Harvard); the young Sicilian of Longfellow's 'Tales of a Wayside Inn,' and well known among us as a teacher, lecturer, and author of other works.

"It will much surprise the editors and readers of the Giornale di Sicilia when they will find out, as they soon will, that the 'distinguished American author' was their own countryman."

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?

From Geyer's Stationer.

"TRADE is fair, but the dry-goods fellows are trying to eat us up—but we are pretty tough."

The above is an extract from a letter sent to this office by a firm of booksellers and stationers located in Hartford, Conn. It is, however, by no means an isolated complaint, nor one without foundation in fact. The same story comes from business men engaged in the same lines of trade in every part of the country, and they invariably point in one direction—towards the department dry-goods store.

In regard to "combines" of every sort, whether in the form of department stores, in productive industries, or in transportation facilities, we are on record as believing them to be, in the long run, highly injurious to the general welfare of communities, and inimical to good citizenship, inasmuch as they are built up at the expense of the independent employing class, particularly men with small capital. Especially is this true of department stores and manufacturing monopolies.

But other considerations are equally important, among which is the "live-and-let-live" principle. The bookselling and stationery business affords telling examples of the violation of this and other principles of vital importance to the maintenance of business integrity and general confidence, through which the legitimate or regular dealer finds himself cut to pieces on prices in a way affording no redress, and leading him to the conclusion that he is the victim of unfair dealing.

The logic of the tendency to crush out small and special traders concerns manufacturers very much. When the great houses have "eaten up" all the little ones needful to their purpose, what shall prevent them from crowning their ambition with a publishing or a stationery manufacturing department, or even a paper-mill or two, just as many big establishments now own, or control the products of cotton, silk, linen and woollen mills? This may seem laughable, but it is far from impossible.

Undoubtedly the anomalous conditions existing in the two trades mentioned are largely due to the practice of giving big discounts and the fiction of published prices, by which the bazaar man, with profits dropping into his till from a multitude of sources, and a trade that enables him to turn over his stock rapidly, can give buyers nearly the full discount, or can afford to use books and stationery, instead of chromos, as a lure for customers. This matter of discounts, however, is entirely within the province of manufacturers, producers, and jobbers, and if they choose to let things drift in directions detrimental to special dealers in their lines, that settles the matter. If petty jealousies and unworthy rivalries are permitted to crowd out of mind more generous and comprehensive views; if the pursuit of selfish ends blinds men to the broad and general principles underlying trade, by which they, in common with others, must stand or fall, none can prevent.

NEWS OF STANLEY'S COMING BOOK.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have received the following letter from the great African explorer:

CAIRO, EGYPT,
VILLA VICTORIA, March 6, 1890. }

Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York City.

SIRS: I am happy to inform you, that I am so far advanced with the writing of my book "In Darkest Africa, and the Quest, Rescue, and Retreat of Emin, the Governor of Equatoria," that more than half the ms. has been already mailed for England. By the 1st of April next I hope to have finished with the whole of it. When that is done not Vanderbilt's wealth would induce me to write upon the subject at any length again. Therefore, you will be justified—nay, authorized—in stating that the book bearing the above title is the only authentic and complete account of the work performed by Emin Pasha Relief Expedition which I have written or shall at any time write.

Yours faithfully,

HENRY M. STANLEY.

MR. MARSTON returned from Cairo March 12, and brought with him a considerable portion of the manuscript of Mr. Stanley's forthcoming book. It is hoped that the work will be in the hands of the public before the end of May; it will be in two volumes, and, so far as can yet be estimated, it will run to a thousand pages. The book will contain three important new maps, showing the course pursued by the great traveller and his companions, and giving the results of their explorations in the heart of the Dark Continent. There will be about one hundred and fifty illustrations, and those of the greatest interest have been entrusted to M. Riou, the well-known French artist, who is himself thoroughly conversant with the characteristics of African scenery, and is equally at home in the delineation of the manners, customs, and fierce forays of the native races.—Publishers' Circular.

HE PONIED.—Professor: Who wrote Cæsar's Commentaries?—College Student: Why—er—Bohn.—Life.

OLD BOOK CHAT.

JUDGING by the sales, it would seem that just at present autographs are more in demand than books in England.

At the sale of Mr. Richard How's library, Mr. Quaritch bid £102 for a quarto Bible translated into the American-Indian (Virginian) language, with Psalms in metre, two volumes in one, Cambridge, U. S. A., 1663, and New Testament, 1661, first edition of this very rare version. A "Myles Coverdale Byble," 1535, imperfect, fetched £24.

IN view of the probable sale of the world-renowned, but almost inaccessible, Middlehill Library at Cheltenham, England, which was formed early in the present century by Sir Thomas Philipps, the British Museum and the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge have agreed to unite in securing those MSS. which it is thought of importance to retain in England. The total sum of money for purchases to be guaranteed by these three bodies will probably amount to £20,000.

THE section of the Hart catalogue which will attract most attention is that containing descriptions of the books remarkable for their bindings. Among them are what appear to be very fine specimens, although, of course, it is impossible to pronounce as to their genuineness without a close personal inspection. However, we may take it for granted that to those items which come from the Hamilton Palace or Sunderland libraries no suspicion can apply. But frankly of "Pompadour" provenances, of books said to be bound for Diane of Poitiers and Henri II., of Groliers, and Clovis Eves, I am more than inclined to be sceptical. I believe there is a place in New York where they can be bought "wholesale, retail, or for exportation." Among the more noteworthy items is a volume bearing the initials on the covers of the "Martyr King," which was purchased at the Sunderland sale, and is undoubtedly genuine. Another interesting book is one bound by De Seuil in beautiful condition, the delicate tooling on the back being in perfect preservation. A lot that should cause a great deal of attraction is a copy of Aristotle, which once belonged to Edward VI., and has that monarch's autograph notes in it. It has unfortunately been rebound. Among other beautiful bindings I notice half a dozen examples of Le Gascon, a couple of Maolis, a volume bound for Henry VIII., etc.

IT has been said the taste for collecting old Bibles has lately experienced a "boom." This I doubt, but the anxiety to possess a really rare or valuable edition of the Scriptures is so widespread and old a one, that it may safely be said to have been a "booming" line of collecting since book collecting began. Do we not read that Cardinal Mazarin sent collectors through Germany to buy rare and curious volumes? In all probability, the Bible which for years bore his name was secured in that manner. The fact is that, of all books, the Bible was, in the infancy of printing and years after, a most valued and coveted possession. Something of this spirit we see to-day. Bookdealers know by experience the fabulous value set upon a "rare and ancient Bible," which eager and hard-up clients so often offer them for sale. When the volume comes to be examined it usually turns out to be some common, worthless, or imperfect seventeenth century version, not more valuable than its own weight in waste paper. How, then, to know a valuable

Bible? In reality this is a comparatively simple thing. Unless it happens to be the first edition of some particular version, or interesting for a choice binding, an autograph, or a provenance illustré, the chances are the book offered for sale is worthless. What, then, are the most interesting Bibles in the English language? To begin with one, we hear a great deal about the "Breeches" Bible. This version is interesting on various accounts; but only the first edition, the work of English refugees at Geneva, is valuable. For many years it was the Bible of Great Britain. Edition after edition to the number of nearly two hundred was printed, and until 1611, when the present authorized version (soon itself to be superseded) was published, the Genevan or "Breeches" Bible held full sway. For quite twenty years after the King James' version was read in the churches the Genevan version was the more popular among the common people, and did not finally succumb to its newer rival without a long struggle of forty or fifty years. A fine copy of the first (1560) Breeches Bible is worth $150. Later issues can be bought by the ton at $10 to $1 apiece! Yet every possessor of any edition firmly believes he has a treasure which is to enrich him forever. I remember passing in Southampton Row, London, a little bookstore every day for two weeks, and seeing an old Bible hanging by a string, marked 2s. 6d. One day I took it down and glanced at it, and found it was a copy of the 1560 Genevan version. I soon possessed it. Upon collating I found it was all right, bound it at a cost of $15, and put it into an auction, where it realized £20! Needless to say even in London such bargains are rare. Another and far more valuable version is that put forth by Coverdale in 1535. This was the first English Bible. Its value may be inferred from a statement of the fact that but one perfect copy is known to exist. It would fetch not far short of $5000. In all fairness it should have been given the first place in this notice, but as the present does not pretend to be more than "chat" I may be forgiven for not keeping strictly to rules of precedence. It is a fact seldom appreciated in the trade that a fine copy of a scarce Bible is one of the most valuable of books. Next week I shall say something more about the Coverdale Bible and some others. Meanwhile it is interesting to note that although so popular, and dedicated to Queen Elizabeth, the Genevan version was never sanctioned either by Parliament or royalty for public use in churches. BIBLIOPHILUS.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

DU MAURIER, Punch's famous satirist-artist, is writing a novel which he will illustrate himself.

DOM PEDRO, Ex-King of Brazil, it is reported, has consented to write a memoir of his life, which will at the same time be a review of forty years of the history of Brazil.

VASILY VERESTCHAGIN, the famous Russian painter, has written a novel entitled "Xenia Repnina," which has been translated by B. MacGahan. It will be issued early next month by George Routledge & Sons.

MR. HUGH THOMPSON, whose delightful eighteenth century drawings have given so much pleasure to readers of The English Illustrated Magazine, is a witty young Irishman. He has lately accepted a commission to illustrate Scott's novels—a task which will occupy him some years.

DR. SIMON N. PATTEN, professor in the Wharton School of Finance and Economy, has in press a book entitled "The Economic Basis of Protection." He "claims to reëxamine the whole question of Free Trade vs. Protection, in the light of modern economic theories, and to show how the free-trade theories are inconsistent with the best results of late economic thought." The book will unquestionably mark an epoch in this discussion.

DR. E. J. JAMES, professor in the Wharton School of Finance and Economy, is preparing for the American Economic Association a paper on the "Canal Question in the United States." He will "show how great a mistake the American people have committed in allowing its canal system to fall into decay." He is warmly in favor of the construction of a new system which shall unite the great waterways of the West with the Atlantic seaboard at various points.

PRINCESS THERESA, the only daughter of the Prince Regent Luitpold of Bavaria, has just published a valuable work on her recent travels to the North Cape. The Princess, an experienced traveller, published five years ago a record of her travels in Russia, which she undertook under an assumed name and accompanied only by a few attendants, in order to obtain a truer insight into the characteristic features of the country than is generally possible to royal travellers. The Princess, who is now in her fortieth year, writes under the pseudonym "Therese v. Bayer."—Tribune.

MRS. CAMPBELL-PRAED has lately finished a novel to be called "The Rival Princess." This lady is an Australian, as her father was a squatter in Queensland. Her maiden name was Rosa Murray-Prior, and she was born at Bromelton Station, on the Logan River, in that easternmost province of the Continent. On her father's side she is of Irish descent, and she is a granddaughter of Colonel Murray-Prior, who fought at Waterloo in the 18th Hussars. When Queensland was enrolled among the Australian colonies, Mr. Murray-Prior was appointed Postmaster-General, and he afterward served in various Queensland Ministries. It was thus that his daughter acquired the knowledge which she afterward utilized in "Policy and Passion" and "Miss Jacobsen's Chance." It was in 1872 that Miss Murray-Prior married Mr. Campbell-Praed, son of the well-known banker, and nephew of Winthrop Mackworth Praed, the poet.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

BEGINNING with the May number, The Andover Review will have a new department devoted to the Literary Outlook, under the charge of Professor Arthur Sherburne Hardy.

THE manuscript of Stanley's magazine article has reached New York, and is to be published in the June Scribner's, of which an extra edition will be printed to meet the expected demand.

THE first three chapters of Andrew Lang and Rider Haggard's joint novel, "The World's Desire," appears in the New Review for April. It will continue the adventures of Ulysses, which the authors think are wound up too abruptly by Homer in the Odyssey.

The Racket is the title of a new humorous weekly published in New York. The management announce that "this will be a very innocent and very harmless racket, and there will be no hard feelings after it." A weekly insurance policy for purchasers is one of the features of The Racket.

THE publishers of Scribner's Magazine have, of late, received an increasing number of requests for artists' proofs of engravings printed in its pages. Heretofore the publishers have thought it wise not to allow these to go out of their own possession. They have now decided to give an opportunity to those interested in the subject to obtain such proofs as they want for their own use, the charge to be one dollar for copies on India paper, and fifty cents for copies on plate paper. This offer is made only to regular subscribers of Scribner's Magazine, whose names are on its books.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE EYTINGE PUBLISHING CO., New York, has published a translation of the younger Dumas' "l'Affaire Clémenceau."

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS will publish in England a collection of stories and witty sayings by the great American showman, P. T. Barnum.

ESTES & LAURIAT are to publish this fall General Ben Butler's reminiscences. The work will be in two volumes. The title has not yet been decided upon.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS are said to have already in hand orders for 50,000 copies of Stanley's "In Darkest Africa." The price of the book has been fixed at $7.50 for the two volumes.

THE SWEDENBORG PRINTING AND PUBLISHING CO., New York, has fallen heir to the income of a large part of the property of the late David A. Hopkins, of Bergen, N. J.

HARPER & BROS. will publish at once a new story of our Indian frontier for young people—"The Red Mustang," by W. O. Stoddard. It will have a number of spirited illustrations by H. F. Farny.

THOMAS WHITTAKER will publish at once Prebendary Row's new book, "Christian Theism, a brief and popular survey of the evidences, upon which it rests; and the objections urged against it considered and refuted."

THE PROGRESSIVE PUBLISHING CO., London, has published a "Biographical Dictionary of Freethinkers, of All Ages and Nations," by J.

M. Wheeler. The compiler contemplates a "History of Free Thought in England."

B. WESTERMAN & CO., New York, will publish for the United States, in connection with Weidmann, Berlin, "T. Macchi Plauti Fabularum Reliquiæ Ambrosianæ," edited by Studemund, long favorably known as a Plautus scholar.

"LOOKING BACKWARD" has reached its 333d thousand. If the copies were laid end to end, they would make a continuous line over thirty miles long; or, if placed one upon the other, would make a column more than four miles high.

WM. C. BRYANT & CO., 24 Broadway, Brooklyn, N. Y., will publish at once "A National Method of Physical Training," by Edwin Checkley, the exponent of a simple system of reducing flesh without dieting or appliances, and of building up slender people of sedentary habits.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish shortly under the title, "Robert Browning: Personalities," a little book by Edmund Gosse, the well-known English writer. It will contain a notable article printed in the Century some years ago, Mr. Gosse's recent paper in the New Review, with prefatory matter and an epilogue, with a poem by Mr. Browning never printed.

PREPARATIONS are now being made for an International Exhibition to be held in the Island of Jamaica, B. W. I., in January, 1891, under the auspices of the Government of Jamaica. In view of the very considerable and increasing trade between the United States and the West Indies, the committee have appropriated a large space for American exhibits. No charge will be made for space in the exhibition buildings, nor will duties be levied on any of the exhibits unless sold in the island. Thomas Amor, Secretary to the Committee, Stewart Building, 280 Broadway, N. Y., will furnish particulars to those who may be interested.

It is said that a literary form almost wholly new to English literature will be introduced in a volume which Messrs. Harper & Brothers have in press for early publication. The book is a collection of examples of a striking species of composition, carefully selected and translated from the French. This literary form has of late years been carried to a high degree of development in France, but it has not as yet been naturalized in other countries, except to a certain extent in Russia. The volume will be illustrated from one hundred and fifty drawings, by H. W. Vickar, after the French manner—or rather, after his own inimitable manner.

"A BORN COQUETTE," by Mrs. Hungerford ("The Duchess"), is to be shortly published by Jno. W. Lovell. The story is now completing serial service under the Tillotson auspices. The syndicate named has newspaper control of Mr. Black's 1890 story, entitled "Stand Fast," and of Geo. M. Fenn's "A Mint of Money," for early publication. They have also secured a story by Mrs. Oliphant for publication in the fall, and have as well as concluded arrangements with James Payn, W. Clark Russell, Mary Dickens, Justin H. McCarthy, Commander Cameron, Mrs. Southworth, Mrs. A. K. Green, Grant Allen, and the Queen of Roumania ("Carmen Sylvia") for fiction to be syndicated at once.

THE GLOBE PRINTING HOUSE, of Philadelphia, is pushing the third volume of Mr. Seilhamer's

"History of the American Theatre" towards completion. The new volume will cover only eight years of American theatrical annals, which is explained by the fact that in the epoch between 1792 and 1800 not fewer than a hundred English actors and actresses of distinction came to America. Mr. Seilhamer was fortunate enough to procure material for biographies of all of these, including circumstantial accounts of the English careers of Hodgkinson, Mrs. Wrihten, Mrs. Melmoth, Mrs. Oldmixon, Mrs. Hutton, Mrs. Whitlock, Mrs. Warrell, Mrs. Fontenelle, Charles Powell, Williamson, Marshall, Darley and Bates, not to speak of those of a later period, Mrs. Merry, Jefferson, Warren, Bernard, and Cooper. The facts were drawn almost wholly from English newspapers and files of English playbills, not being accessible in any other shape. This epoch is also remarkable for the development of dramatic criticism in America and for the activity of American playwrights. Both subjects are fully treated in the new volume.

GINN & Co. will publish shortly for the corporation of Harvard University two monographs. The first will be "A History of the Veto Power in the United States," by Edward Campbell Mason, Instructor in Political Economy. Mr. Mason's work will include a chapter on English and Colonial Vetoes, and a chapter on State Vetoes. The body of the work is a systematic discussion of all the Presidential vetoes, arranged by subject and based on a study of the records of Congress. Then follows an investigation of the Constitutional questions which have arisen out of the use of the veto power. An appendix contains a chronological list of Presidential vetoes, with complete references to the journals of the two Houses, and a bibliography of the subject. In an introduction the editor, Professor Hart, will discuss the veto in modern Constitutions. The second number of the series will be "An Introduction to the Study of Federal Governments," by Albert Bushnell Hart, Assistant Professor of History. This monograph will contain an historical introduction, with brief sketches of the rise and institutions of the principal federal governments which have existed from the establishment of the Greek federations to the present day. To each sketch will be appended a brief, critical bibliography. Then will follow a parallel arrangement of the texts, in English, of the four most important federal Constitutions,—those of Canada, Germany, Switzerland, and the United States. There will be an appendix containing a list of special authorities on federal government, and of references to discussions in more general works.

BUSINESS NOTES.

NEW YORK CITY.—James R. Steers, assignee for Lockwood Coombes, gives notice to the creditors of that firm that they are required to present their claims with the vouchers, duly verified, to him at his place of business, No. 55 Liberty Street, New York, on or before the 19th day of June, 1890.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—Mr. Fetterman has removed his stock of books and circulating library from Twelfth and Main Streets to Fourteenth and Main Streets. Mr. Warson, proprietor of the "Antiquarian" bookstore, says that his new location on East Twelfth Street is 100 per cent. better than the old stand on East Eleventh Street.

A NEW BOOK BY FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT.

LITTLE SAINT ELIZABETH,

And Other Stories. By FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT. With 12 new full-page drawings, by Reginald B. Birch. Square 8vo, uniform with "Little Lord Fauntleroy," $1.50.

Mrs. Burnett's "Little St. Elizabeth" is a story that reminds one of the author's "Fauntleroy" in the art and feeling with which the girl's character and the incidents of her life are pictured. The lovable little maid is of French birth, and her education has been among priests and with relatives whose devotion to the Church and to the poor is great. Her adventures after she is brought, under peculiar circumstances, to New York, and is placed in the care of a bachelor uncle, form the theme of the fascinating story. The other tales, "The Story of Prince Fairyfoot," "The Proud Little Grain of Wheat," and "Behind the White Brick," are, like the title story, full of the delightful humor and tenderness of feeling characteristic of Mrs. Burnett.

"Elizabeth is as charming a girl creation as Mrs. Burnett's boy hero, Little Lord Fauntleroy."—London Graphic.

"Elizabeth is one of the most winning of Mrs. Burnett's child heroines."—London Athenæum.

UNIFORM WITH THE ABOVE.

Little Lord Fauntleroy. Illustrated by R. B. Birch. Square 8vo, $2.00.

Sara Crewe; or, What Happened at Miss Minchin's. Illustrated by R. B. Birch. Square 8vo, $1.00.

Expiation.

By OCTAVE THANET. Illustrated by A. B. Frost. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

The scene of this story is Arkansas in the last year of the Civil War, when the country was infested with plundering and murderous "graybacks." The character portraiture and the pictures of the adventurous life of the time are given with strength and vividness. The movement of the story is rapid, and the reader's interest is maintained throughout.

The Lawton Girl.

By HAROLD FREDERIC. 12mo, cloth, $1.25; paper, 50 cents.

A powerful piece of romantic realism, characterizing vividly not only the personages of the novel, but the entire social life of the town in which the scene is laid. The story has a very strong human and pathetic side, and the trials, struggles, and accomplishments of "The Lawton Girl" are depicted with much sympathy and delicacy of touch.

THREE FAMOUS FRENCH WOMEN.

The Wife of the First Consul.

Translated from the French of Imbert de Saint-Amand, by T. S. PERRY. With portrait, 12mo, $1.25.

From the French of the same author.

Marie Antoinette and the End of the Ancient Regime. With portrait, 12mo. In press.

The Happy Days of the Empress Marie Louise. With portrait, 12mo. In press.

Within the past few years M. Imbert de Saint-Amand has written a series of volumes which have made him one of the most popular authors of France. Each has for its nucleus some portion of the life of one of the three eminent women who presided over the French court, either at Versailles or the Tuileries, immediately before, during, and after the revolutionary epoch. But though thus largely biographical, the volumes are equally pictures of the times they describe. Probably no times in any country were ever so picturesque, so crowded with events, and so peopled with striking characters, and M. Imbert de Saint-Amand conveys an impression of them unrivalled for reality and vivacity.

Bright Skies and Dark Shadows.

By Rev. HENRY M. FIELD, D.D. 8vo, $1.50.

A charming narrative of the author's recent journeyings in the Southern States. It is descriptive and pleasantly historical in its pictures, and contains much that is instructive and suggestive in its examination of social and political problems.

English Lands, Letters, and Kings.

By DONALD G. MITCHELL. Vol. I., From Celt to Tudor. 12mo, $1.50; Vol. II., From Elizabeth to Anne. 12mo, $1.50.

"A bright, pleasant, chatty record, true to history, and full of useful hints and suggestions."—Boston Sat. Eve. Gazette.

"A most charming book for lovers of the purest and best literature."—Hartford Post.

JUST PUBLISHED: Semitic Philosophy.

Showing the Ultimate Social and Scientific Outcome of the Original Christianity in its Conflict with Surviving Ancient Heathenism. By PHILIP C. FRIESE. 1 vol., 12mo, 263 pages, $1.00.

In its many interesting subjects are discussed. Beginning with instinctive thought, its etherealization by means of language, the author treats of the social contract between God and man, the meaning of the formula "Kingdom of God," as promulgated in the days of the Patriarchs, applying its principles to the subject of a general social reformation. He touches upon such questions as the relation of church and state and church and school, the purification of politics, the labor question, and the various phases of the race problem. A work unique in its combination of peculiar and original ideas, with strong practical suggestions.

"Peculiar in its combination of original ideas with strong practical suggestions."—Herald and Presbyterian, Cincinnati.

SHORTER THAN THE SHORTEST.

We have JUST PUBLISHED the Twenty-first Edition, from entirely NEW PLATES, of Eclectic Shorthand.

By Prof. J. G. CROSS, M.A. 1 vol., cloth, $2.00.

The three most important characteristics of Shorthand, Simplicity, Legibility, Brevity, are more fully secured in Eclectic Shorthand than in any other system. Because of these three features it can be practically acquired in one-third the time necessary to master any other system of verbatim reporting.

Hundreds who have failed in an attempt to learn some one of the old systems have readily acquired a practical use of this system.

Send for full descriptive circulars containing testimonials and demonstrating by comparison with other systems that the Eclectic is the SIMPLEST, the BRIEFEST, and the most LEGIBLE system of Shorthand in existence, or a copy of the book will be sent, postpaid, for $2.00.

Eclectic Shorthand Dictionary.

1 vol., 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

From SIMS ELY, Court Reporter, Eighth Judicial District, Kansas.

"The Eclectic Dictionary is far more comprehensive than I had anticipated. To recite its many advantages would be to quote its entire contents from cover to cover. To the student this new work is simply indispensable."

"Every practical reporter also will find within its pages many 'pointers' and many new 'short-cuts' hitherto unthought of."

Something New for Shorthand Writers.

Curve-Line Shorthand Blanks.

What experienced teachers say of them:

"It has met with the hearty approval of our entire school."—J. M. LIND, Univ. of Denver, Denver, Colo.

"I will recommend my pupils to use them. They will certainly be quite an aid."—G. L. HUDKINS, Cawker City, Kan.

"I am satisfied that I can write from 10 to 15 words per minute faster than on the straight lines and find it less tiresome."—F. F. DEAN, Washington, D.C.

Also Straight Line Note-Books.

Full Size. 192 pages.
